

Internet Safety Tips For Families

- Start talking about Internet safety with your children at a young age.
- Establish ground rules.
- Know what your children are doing on the Internet.
- Discuss good netiquette.
- Go over the definition of cyberbullying and what to do if it happens.
- Help your children learn that personal information and pictures should be kept private, and once information is posted online it is online forever.
- Assist with setting-up online accounts and passwords.
- Talk about the risks of being online and ways your children can protect themselves.
- Install and regularly update security software.
